Many local phone calls will soon be easier to pay for, but harder to dial

By WENDY HANSCOM

Thousands of Maine telephone customers will soon be able to save money on in-state toll calls, but they may also be spending more time dialing or punching in phone numbers.

The Public Utilities Commission recently approved a ruling that will allow customers to widen their basic service.

Bethel customers calling Stephens Memorial Hospital will have to push 1-207-743-5933 instead of just 1-743-5933

The PUC ruling is in response to telephone customers' complaints that in-state calling is too expensive, and that some towns have only a limited toll-free calling area.

Basic service usually allows customers in towns with the same dialing exchange to call each other for a basic service fee. For example, phone customers in Bethel, Newry and parts of other towns with the 824 exchange can dial each other at no additional charge.

Other exchanges are also sometimes included. Bethel and Newry phone customers, for example, can call the 875 Greenwood exchange at no extra charge.

Telephone customers are also supposed to be able to call within the municipality they live in at no charge.

A Greenwood resident, for example, with a 665 Woodstock exchange number should not be charged to call 875 numbers, even though they must dial 1 first.

The recent PUC ruling on in-state toll calls boils down to three major rate changes.

- Some towns, such as Andover and West Paris, will have the option of adding a neighboring town that customers call frequently to their basic calling area, for a relatively small monthly fee.

- All phone customers can choose to add exchanges within 30 miles of their home for an increased basic flat fee.

- The price of toll calls from public telephones will be standardized.

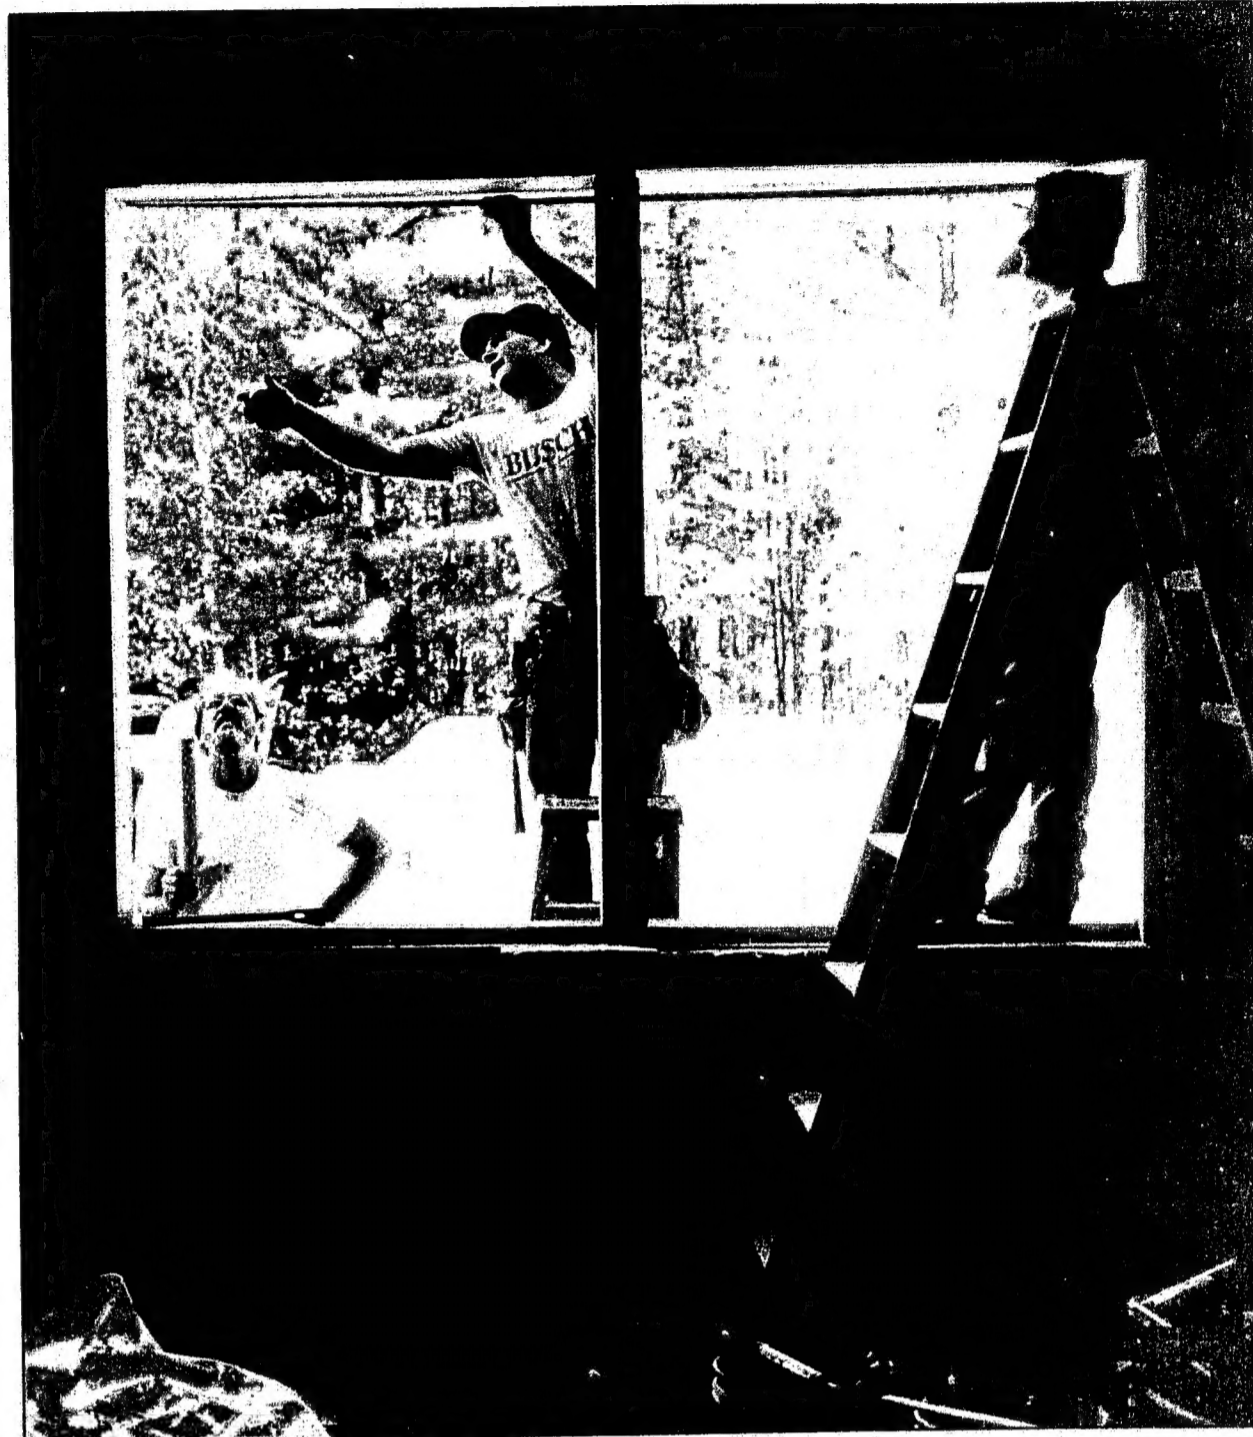

The Secretary of State's Office has yet to sign off on the plan, but is expected to within the next week, according to PUC officials. Rates for the new services are still being developed by telephone companies.

One change would allow towns, in which more than 50 percent of telephone customers make six or more calls a month to a neighboring town -- out of their basic calling area, to add that neighboring town to their calling area for a fee.

Locally, Andover telephone users, for example, can choose to add Rumford to their calling area, and West Paris residents could add Norway. There are 21 towns in the state which will have this option.

The fee would be relatively small.

Local voters go with the flow and boost Rick Bennett over the top

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Local voters generally followed statewide trends in last week's primary elections, an election which saw local state Rep. Richard Bennett (R-Norway) come away with his party's nomination to battle for Olympia Snowe's seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

As predicted, turnout both locally and across the state was light.

In the race for their parties' gubernatorial nominations, Democrat Joseph Brennan ran away from the pack of five candidates, getting more than 50 percent of the vote; and Susan Collins got the nod in the Republican race, capturing about a quarter of the vote in an eight-way race.

Brennan was the clear choice of local Democrats, and Collins got the nod from local Republicans except in the towns of Gilead, Upton and Woodstock. Woodstock Republicans cast their votes heavily for Caspar Wyman.

Bennett gets huge local support

In the Republican primary for the 2nd District Congressional seat, state Rep. Richard Bennett, who represents Oxford, Norway and Greenwood, was the clear favorite in Oxford County -- but he was able to successfully parlay his heavy home-turf support into a statewide victory.

Bennett got 29 percent of the vote statewide, but in Oxford County some towns voted 10-1 for him.

In Bethel, Bennett got 240 votes, while his nearest competitor took only 27. "I was just overwhelmed," Bennett said of the support he received from local Republicans.

Bennett's Democratic opponent in November will be Democrat John Baldacci, a state senator from Bangor. Baldacci racked up 27 percent of the statewide vote, but fared poorly in Oxford County, where he ran behind local favorites Janet Mills and James Howanice, as well as James F. Mitchell of Bangor, the nephew of retiring Senator George Mitchell.

Other races

In the District 24 state senate race, Democrats in Andover, Bethel, Greenwood and Woodstock opted for James Wilfong of Stow; but they were overruled by Democrats elsewhere in the district, who gave the nod to Richard Boivin of Rumford.

Boivin will square off against Republican candidate Norman Ferguson Jr. of Hanover, who ran unopposed.

The Democratic candidate for district attorney in Oxford, Androscoggin and Franklin counties will be assistant D.A. Norm Croteau, who beat out Paul Gauvreau and Thomas Mangan. He will race against independent candidate Pat Mador. No Republicans declared candidacies for the office.

Bethel voters dump truck, OK rest of budget

By WENDY HANSCOM

Bethel's $1.34 million municipal budget might have passed without a trace of controversy, had buying a town plow not been on the warrant.

Ninety-three voters took two hours to act on the 36 article warrant at Wednesday annual Town Meeting, and almost half the articles passed with no debate and no opposition.

But voters did turn down buying a $60,000 plow truck. Selectmen had recommended the purchase, but the Budget Committee thought the town should be able to get another year out of the oldest truck in its current fleet.

When asked why the two boards differed on their recommendations, Selectman Arthur Gilbert said he thought it was a communication problem.

"I think if there had been more communication in the beginning, a majority of the Budget Committee might have approved the purchase," Gilbert said. "The truck we're replacing is 14 years old and needs $8,000 to $10,000 in repairs, which is 20 percent of the value of a new truck. I can't see putting the money into a truck that may run three days, three weeks or three years."

Gilbert recommended buying the truck, along with a new plow, but putting off for a year the purchase of a $9,000 sander.

But Budget Committee member Pat Doon disagreed.

"(The Budget Committee) felt that the truck on hand could be fixed," Doon said. "We did understand what we were looking at and made a value judgment."

There's been a lot of hype in the paper on the truck not being fixable -- about being able to put your feet through the floor. But I say, you don't feed a dead horse, but you certainly do feed it until Weatherstick business pointing up

Tiny niche of the forest products industry reaches a worldwide market and provides good summer jobs

By WENDY HANSCOM

Up for fair, down for foul. It sounds like a movie review.

But Newry businessman Steve Wight says his Maine Woodsman's Weathersticks are a better track record than any critic's prediction of a blockbuster -- and the sticks even beat out TV weathermen, he boasted.

Sales of the balsam prognosticators have grown steadily since Wight started making them in 1972, and Maine Line Products in Bethel began marketing them.

In the beginning, it was a one man operation, with Wight harvesting, clipping, peeling and whittling the first sticks.

He was assistant manager at the Bethel Inn when a customer, an old Maine Guide, told him about the sticks that the Abenaki Indians supposedly used to craft.

Wight made and sold a few hundred sticks that first year. But by last summer, a crew of seven local youths was producing tens of thousands of them. This year Wight has hired one high school and eight college students, who should produce about 20 percent more of the weather predictors than last year's crew.

The sticks are made from balsam branches, and are about 10 to 16 inches long. They bend up when a dry spell is in store, and down when a storm is brewing.

Most people are leery about their accuracy, Wight said, but proof is as easy as tacking one up on your house.

"People are always skeptical at first," he said. "If they're worried about what their neighbors will think, they should put one in their backyard, watch it for three days and then proudly move it to their front yard. People pick them up as a unique gift, then they find out they work and buy a bunch more."

Wight said it's rumored that if people attempt to make their own weathersticks, the sticks won't work unless the maker wears porcupine skin moccasins.

But the nine sneakered young people sweating away clipping balsam branches in a workshop at Wight's Sunday River Inn hope to prove differently.

The crew is bused to a woodlot at 7 a.m. They clip and gather balsam whorls for a couple hours, pile them into a trailer and return to the inn.

Any side branches are clipped off

Stanley Steamers coming to town

About 50 stream-driven cars will pass through Bethel next week during the Stanley Museum of Kingfield's six-day trek.

Tuesday morning from about 8:30 to 10 a.m. the Stanley Steamers will be driving down the Northwest Bethel Road onto Route 26 and then the Intervale Road.

The cars will be back in town Friday from about 3 to 4 p.m., when they come off Route 5 near the Bethel Inn, down Main Street and back onto the Northwest Bethel Road.

The Stanley Museum has several cars on display. Anyone who wants more information on the museum can call Sue Davis at 265-2729.

TRIMMING AWAY THE WASTE WOOD--Scott Higgins of Locke Mills selects a branch that will soon become a weatherstick and trims away the unwanted branches from the whorl. Higgins is one of nine local high and college students hired by Steve Wight of Newry to make tens of thousands of weathersticks. The pitch-covered workers turn hundreds of balsam branches to finished, whittled weatherstick each day. (Photo by Wendy Hanscom)

KEEP THE KIDS' PARK GROWING

To the Editor:

We're very happy and excited to see lots of people using Davis Park Rest Stop and particularly the new playground. As some of you may know the structure standing there took parent volunteers lots of time and effort to obtain. Many hours of grant writing, fund raising, phone calls, consulting; hours spent in the town office and finally a 13 hour building day on Halloween of last year, that's what you're looking at. The project is far from completion. This summer plans include a swing set, a tire swing and a fence. The fence will most likely be up by the time this letter is in print. Next year we're hoping to add another structure similar to the first one only lower to the ground for very young children.

As always, money stands in the way of getting the job done. We are always looking for help with fundraising. We are anxious to complete the project and set up a maintenance program to keep the playground in good shape. If you would like to buy a particular piece of equipment, like a swing, or lumber for a section of the swing set you can call or send donations to the town office c/o Davis Park Playground. Thank you for your past support.

BICENTENIAL HELP WANTED

To the Editor:

All those interested in serving on the steering committee for the Bethel Bicentennial celebration in 1996 are urged to meet at the Dr. Moses Mason House on Sunday, June 26, at 7 p.m. Organizations throughout the town are being contacted to send representatives to help plan this event, but anyone interested in participating is urged to come.

At the meeting on June 9, there were a number of suggestions made for activities and projects. These included a special postage cancellation; a contest to design a new town seal, which could be used in all bicentennial logos; a poster with a photo collage of Bethel barns, which could be used as fund raiser; the publication of a special history of the town for children, and the participation of a number of militia and musical groups.

Lots more ideas are needed and the people to carry them out are essential. Please come on Sunday and let everyone know what you would like to see in 1996. If you cannot make this date, please let me know by calling 824-2291 or 824-2908.

OM THANKS

To the Editor:

Most folks in the Bethel area surrounding communities are aware that the Telstar Middle School "Iliad" team placed seventh at the recent World Finals competition held at Iowa State University. As co-coach of this talented team I want to express my gratitude to the many individuals and businesses that supported the team's journey to Iowa. The encouragement you gave in so many ways contributed directly to the team's success.

Iowa State University played host to thousands of the world's brightest students on their beautiful 2,000 acre campus. It was a long journey for all students to make it to the World Finals level. The World Finals event can be described as the "Olympics" of education and generates a high level of excitement and competition. Our team was stopped many times on campus when we wore our Team Supporter T-shirts. Besides admiring the T-shirt itself, people wanted to know about the Bethel area, and were impressed by the level of support given by the community. We all wore our T-shirts with a great deal of pride.

The girls worked hard right up to the day of the competition on refining their problem solution. Their long term performance was polished, dramatic, and moving and had the team of judges in tears. They scored in sixth place in their style category and had an outstanding finish of fourth place in the spontaneous problem among the 57 teams in their problem division. The problem they were presented required a number of creative and humorous responses to score well.

Many schools offer Odyssey of the Mind problems and competition opportunities as part of their gifted and talented programs. In the SAD-44 the program is offered to all students at participating schools. The requirements are a willingness to take creative risks, to work as a team, a high level of commitment, initiative, and personal responsibility. The program has given problems that are presented each year for the elementary through college level. They always include a classics literature problem, a structure problem, and a vehicle problem, and variations on engineering and literature problems. It is amazing to see the different problem solutions at the OM competitions. I hope more area students will participate in the district's program.

I would also like to give a very special thanks to Nancy, Dan, and Martha Grover. Nancy and Martha were driving all the team's props to Iowa when Nancy suddenly became ill in Ohio. Nancy was admitted into intensive care in a small hospital, while Martha, who just turned 14, made the emergency calls back to Bethel. The rest of the team was en-route to Boston to catch a plane to Iowa and were unaware of the crisis. Dan Grover immediately caught a first plane to the nearest airport in Ohio, took a bus, and ended up walking the last mile to be with Nancy and Martha. After being reassured that Nancy's condition was stabilized, Dan then picked up the travel route driving the family's van to Iowa, and stayed with Martha and the team through the week's competition. In the face of their misfortune, Dan and Martha remained upbeat and positive with the team, while Nancy stayed in touch from her hospital bed. We were all overwhelmed by their selfless pulling together during the time of crisis.

Finally I want to thank all the team's families who also gave of themselves in many ways from fund raising, to errand running, and cheering us all on. Although adults are not involved in any part of the team's solution, the families found ways to make the past two years Odyssey of the Mind competitions unforgettable experiences. Thank you one and all.

MANY MERMAID THANKS

To the Editor:

The culmination of all the planning of "Our Own Mermaid" came to a successful conclusion Friday night. The most important feature being the dancers. I feel they all performed to the peak of their age ability and I was extremely proud of them. The parents, too, should take credit for encouraging practice at home.

Thanks for my lovely flowers, gifts and cards. Thanks to all who helped in so many ways. I truly appreciate it.

During my summer sabbatical I will attend two Dance Workshops and several professional ballet classes, plan next spring's production and continue writing my latest teen novel. I will then be ready to start classes again in the fall.

Is it worth it? I think so. Especially when students come back and talk fondly of their years with Children's Dance Theater. If I can make happy memories that's good enough for me. Have a great summer. See you in the fall.

The board, which had earlier completed a site walk on the property, approved the application, but with the condition that Thurston come in with a landscaping plan, acceptable to the town code enforcement officer, before receiving a building permit.

The board also waived the size provision of the town's sign ordinance. The waiver allows multiple signs to be hung from a single structure that exceeds the dimensions allowed for an individual sign.

Board members reasoned that precedent for the waiver had been set in granting similar waivers for projects, such as the Unicorn Flower Shop, which involve a number of small businesses sharing a single site.

(A proposed revision of the town's sign ordinance, which would eliminate the need for variances in such cases, was approved by Bethel voters at last week's Town Meeting.)

Mill expansion

The board also agreed last week that a further expansion of P.H. Chadbourne Company's sawmill could be dealt with as an amendment to the site plan approval received by the company in 1993.

However, the decision followed heated comments by Chadbourne forester Don Feeney (Feeney, a Planning Board member, had stepped down from the board to present the company's plans).

After Feeney had initially described the proposed expansion, which involves adding an additional 4,464 square feet of enclosed workspace, board member Reggie Brown said that the proposal "seems rather large to be a simple amendment," and he suggested the company submit "a site plan for a few items."

Feeney immediately termed Brown's suggestion "absolutely ridiculous."

"I think you've got to know the difference between a working mill and some little gift shop," Feeney said angrily. "I think I'm being treated unfairly here because I'm an industrial site and everyone thinks 'deep pockets.'"

Following further discussion the board voted that it would in fact treat the matter as an amendment, with the conditions that the applicant submit a detailed plan for the new sawmill configuration, obtain a letter from the town fire chief signing off on the project, and pay the difference ($275) between the fee for the original site-plan footage and the proposed enlargement.

The board also agreed that there was no need to inform abutters of the expansion, since amendments to previously approved site plans do not require abutter notification.

Weathersticks

the branch destined to become a weatherstick. The bark is then peeled away, the stick whittled and set out to dry for a few days.

After the sticks are boxed, drying continues inside the inn. Once cured, they are shipped to Maine Line Products for packaging. They retail for about $4.95, Wight said.

Last week's near heat wave had the stick producers looking a bit peaked, but production didn't slow much.

"The crew has evolved into a highly over-educated lot, who like to listen to books on tape in the afternoon and hold lofty discussions," Wight said. The group is made up of three prospective engineers and some liberal arts majors, he said.

The weather sticks are marketed solely by Maine Line Products. Company owners Rick and Ellen Whitney have sold the sticks to people all over the U.S. and as far away as Japan.

"We have had shops in Japan and Italy purchase them," Rick Whitney said. "They seem to go all over the world, but especially the United States. We get letters daily referring to the weathersticks or wanting information on them."

The sticks are also advertised in various New England publications, including "Yankee," "Farmer's Almanac," and "Down East."

Business finance workshop offered

The Evans Notch Economic Project will sponsor a workshop on Business Financing on the morning of Thursday, June 23, from 7:30-10 a.m. in the Bethel Inn and Country Club's Gibson Room.

Directors and administrators from several commercial lending organizations, as well as government lending programs will sit on a panel to outline how existing and potential businesses gain access to credit and provide an overview of the funding sources and options available to businesses.

Programs to be highlighted include, new commercial loans, small business administration (SBA), farmers home administration (FmHA), finance authority of Maine (FAME), small business development centers (SBDC), new financial incentives for women in business and programs for low income business people. Once the eight panelists outline the many programs available, questions from the audience will be fielded by the full panel.

Gregory P. Herrick, Project Consultant for the Evans Notch Economic Project, organized this workshop after meeting with area boards of selectmen, organized groups, business leaders and concerned individuals about the finding in his Economic Base-Line Study, as well as, the economic conditions of the region in general. During these meetings in the spring, business financing was identified as one of many problems facing area businesses. This program is intended to outline programs, highlight the current financial climate in Maine and ultimately encourage existing and potential entrepreneurs to pursue their ideas.

Panelist Thursday will include: Fred Robie, Key Bank of Maine, Augusta; Marcel Bilodeau, regional vice president, Key Bank of Maine, Norway; Greg Gagne, branch manager, Fleet Bank of Maine, Rumford; Robert Shinnors, Fleet Bank of Maine, Waterville; Susan Driscoll, business development officer, Bethel Savings Bank, Bethel; Joe Balchunas, small business assistant, Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments, Auburn; Walter Riseman, micro business specialist, Community Concepts, South Paris; and Stanley Gates, Senior Core of Retired Executives (SCORE), Norway.

All interested people are welcome to attend the workshop. Audience participation will be featured and all viewpoints are encouraged to come and share their insight. Free coffee, juice, muffins and donuts will be served to help start the day and an informal discussion period will follow the event. For more information about the workshop or the Evans Notch Economic Project, contact Herrick at 207-824-2282.

The Evans Notch Economic Project is a one year locally controlled and developed project funded by a US Forestry Service Rural Development Grant. The money was granted to the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce in July of 1993 and a project consultant was hired in August, 1993. This workshop is the second in a series of workshops to be held before the project is completed on July 31.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

Society Genealogical Committee member Warren Stearns of Hanover has transcribed from the microfilm reel the 1920 Bethel and Hanover censuses for use in the Society's Eva Bean Research Room. He has also indexed all the names to expedite the work of researchers consulting this census. Much appreciation is extended to Warren for this fine volunteer project.

Angela Szent, a grade 11 student at Telstar Regional High School, won the 1994 Dr. Moses Mason Award for the best essay in local history in the annual contest sponsored by the Bethel Historical Society. Her essay titled "Odd Andover Antiquity" was selected by the judges, Edmond Vachon, Margaret Joy Tibbels, and Rosalind Chapman for top honors. A certificate of commendation from the society plus a $100 Savings Bond were presented to her at the school's annual awards ceremony by society president, Charles Raymond.

Anyone interested in serving as a volunteer guide in the Dr. Moses Mason House should attend an orientation session on Wednesday, June 29, 2 p.m., in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. If you are unable to make this date, please call the society office at 824-2908. The museum will open for the 1994 season on July 1 and new persons are always welcome to serve as guides during July and August.

Andover woman hurt in bizarre crash

RUMFORD--An Andover woman was hurt slightly last week after she was pinned beneath her vehicle for nearly 30 minutes. Edith Palmer, 52, of Andover tried to stop her truck from rolling down a small hill near Luxton Avenue in Rumford. She was out of her truck when it popped out of gear and began to roll down a small incline, according to police. Palmer tried to get back in the truck, but fell when she ran into a tree. She slipped beneath the truck and the left rear tire pinned her face-up against the tree. Rescue workers freed her a half hour later by shifting the truck to the right and away from her body. She was taken to Rumford Memorial Hospital and treated for minor injuries.

Bald eagles move off endangered list

ORONO--The bald eagle has been on the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's "endangered" list since 1978, but the agency is planning to move the birds to the its "threatened" list.
A few states already list the bird as threatened, and changing its status would ease some of the rigid restrictions that protect it.
The Audubon Society lists 4,016 pairs of nesting eagles in the lower 48 states. The count in 1963 was 416.

Fishermen hook strange catch

KENNEBAGO LAKE--A group of Norway fishermen, happy to hook a good-sized trout last week in Kennebago Lake near Rangley, got a surprise when the fish took off for the bottom with more force than his 12 to 14 inches would normally allow. A loon had swallowed the hooked fish.
The fishermen moved in on the thrashing bird to see if they could somehow free it without cutting the line. It all ended happily when the loon coughed up the fish and swam away.

Berlin man stabbed to death

BERLIN, N.H.--A North Stratford, N.H. man has been charged with second-degree murder in the Saturday stabbing death of Steven McDonald, 33, of Berlin, N.H.
Glen Berthel, 35, of Route 3, was arrested following a fight with McDonald in an alley behind the Berlin Motor Inn on Main Street, police say. Following a 6 p.m. report of a stabbing, police found McDonald lying on Pleasant Street with an apparent knife wound in his chest. A knife was recovered, police said. McDonald was pronounced dead at 6:47 p.m. at a local hospital. Berthel is being held without bail at the Coos County House of Corrections in North Stratford.

Tornadoes in The County confirmed

ST. FRANCIS--The U.S. Weather Service has confirmed that one or more tornadoes touched down Saturday in Arrostook County. Winds from one funnel cloud took the roof off a St. Francis man's home. Storm winds also blew the man across his living room and into a wall. He was not seriously injured.

Town wants help closing landfill

ANDOVER--Town selectmen learned last week that the town may be able to get some reimbursement for the costs of closing Andover's landfill, if voters statewide approve a $20 million bond request in November. There may also be changes in the state's landfill capping program coming, selectmen said, that would put small towns in a classification that would make the closings of their landfills less stringent and less costly.

Paris voters buy several trucks

PARIS--About 90 Paris voters agreed last week to buy a firetruck, along with some new equipment for the town's highway crew. Voters authorized selectmen to purchase a new firetruck for up to $164,500. Taxpayers will also spend $190,000 to buy a grader, dump truck and three-quarter ton patrol truck.

Pickup seen at W. Paris burglary site

WEST PARIS--Burglars stole $500, beer and candy early Monday morning from the Trap Corner Store in West Paris. At least two people saw a four-door black pickup truck that police believe was used in the theft leave the store. Between 3 and 4:30 a.m. police believe that burglars broke through a side window at the store, picked up a bank bag and some beer and candy.

The time can be pinpointed, police said, because someone saw the pickup parked at the store at 3 a.m. Later, around 4:30 a.m., another witness saw the truck speed off the lot and head north on Route 25. The driver didn't turn on the truck's headlights for quite a distance, the witness told police. The truck was probably a 1989 or 1990 model, with a cap on the back, hauling a U-Hall Co. trailer. Oxford County Sheriff's Department Deputy's are asking anyone who believes he has seen the truck to call the department at 743-4252 or 1-800-482-7433.

Logger trapped by tree

RUMFORD--A Rumford logger with a broken leg was pinned to a tree last week for 90 minutes. Scott Broomhall, 42, was winching some logs behind a skidder when the logs started to roll. His pant leg got caught on a knot when he tried to get out of the way. The logs pushed his leg against a standing tree, breaking his leg and pinning him there. He was out of reach of his tools and water bottle. He immediately began yelling for help and 90 minutes later was heard by a neighbor. He was transported to Rumford Community Hospital for treatment.

Mountain road go-around

NEWRY--The Newry Roads Committee is opening up an old debate. The committee is considering researching the possibility of reconstructing an old county road between Sunday River and Bear River valleys. The mountain road existed from about 1850 to 1917, according to town officials, who estimated that distance of the road between Powder Ridge Development and Route 26 along the Bear River at 5,300 feet. Other between-the-valleys routes being discussed would connect the Powder Ridge road to the Riverwood development on Route 26, or branch off the Sunday River Road near Powder Ridge development and hook up with Route 26 near the Newry Town Office.

The town would need to acquire rights-of-way for any of the possible routes. But town officials are unsure whether or not the old county road right-of-way can be revived, or if the town could use eminent domain, as long as landowners are compensated.

Leslie Robertson owns much of the land along the old county road. A farmer and logger for 20 years, Robertson said he's more interested in pursuing that livelihood than developing his land, and may not be interested in selling a right-of-way.

In other Newry road news, last week the Planning Board granted Sunday River Ski Resort a site plan review waiver on its plan to extend the Monkey Brook Road to access Jordan Bowl. The board had already granted the resort shoreline zoning approval.

At the board's next meeting, the resort is also scheduled to submit plans for the same access road that would by-pass property owned by the Harrington family. There has been some dispute over a right-of-way the resort owns over the Harrington property. The board meets again Wednesday, July 6, 7 p.m. at the Town Office.

From the Bethel Police log:

Fountain is off limits

On June 14, police warned some young children trying to beat the heat to stay out of the fountain on the Common.
One June 20, a Church Street resident reported the theft of a $220, 15-speed bicycle.
In other police news last week, on June 16 a Vernon Street woman reported someone rattled her locked front door in the late evening. The prowler was scared off by the woman's dog, the report said.
On June 17, a Main Street businessman reported the theft of an antique red wagon. The wagon was later recovered on Mason Street.

Phones

and limited the highest basic rate of the two towns.

If Andover's basic rate was $8, for example, and Rumford's was $12, Andover phone customers could add Rumford to their calling area, and it would cost them no more than $12 -- or maybe less. Rumford callers would also be able to add Andover to their basic calling areas.

All telephone customers will be asked if they want to add the exchanges within a 30-mile radius to their basic calling area.

Dawn Gallagher, a PUC consumer assistance spokesman, said adding those exchanges should cost less than $10 more than customers are now paying for basic service.

The plan is limited to two hours of calls within the expanded area, she said. Customers will be charged an additional fee for any time over two hours.

Telephone customers should look at their bills, determine how much money and time they spend on toll calls within a 30-mile radius, she said, and figure out if they'll save money with the new plan.

The new basic rate plans will be implemented over the winter, Gallagher said. Sometime in November, telephone users will be asked to pick what plan they want. They can choose to stay with the basic calling area they have now for the same fee, she said.

In-state calls on public telephones will also be regulated.

Calls made on most coin-operated phones within the phone's home dialing exchange will be priced at a local coin rate and not timed. The local coin rate has not been determined.

Calls made to telephones within a 20-mile radius of the pay phone will be priced at 120 percent the local coin rate for each two minutes.

More telephone changes, choices

Telephone customers will also have to get used to another upcoming change -- the way they dial their phones.

Beginning July 15 local telephone customers will be asked to dial 1-207 for all in-state toll calls.

The new system is being instituted because North American telephone companies are running out of area codes, according to PUC officials.

Currently, all telephone area codes have either a "0" or "1" as their middle digit. In the future, area codes can have any digit as their middle digit.

When the new system goes into effect, Bethel telephone customers calling Stephens Memorial Hospital, for example, will have to push 1-207-743-5933 instead of just 1-743-5933.

From July 15 to Oct. 15 calls dialed either way will be completed. But after Oct. 15, callers not dialing 207 will get a recorded message with dialing instructions.

Once local phone companies have new computer programs in place for the 10-digit dialing change, some Maine customers may have the option of dialing just seven digits.

Because Maine has only one area code (207), telephone companies are working on a system that would allow customers to sign up for a program to dial just seven numbers. There will probably be a fee for the service.

States with more than one area code would probably not be able to offer the same service, according to a PUC spokesman.

Town Meeting

it dies. Last year we got the same scenario on the one-ton truck, but the new truck came in and they're still using both. Age doesn't matter -- it's the way the truck is kept up and handled."

The selectmen's recommendation to buy the truck was not unanimous -- Selectman Bob Chadbourne said the old truck was safe to use.

"The selectmen's task is to address safety issues," Chadbourne said. "Safety should be our number one priority. If there were any questions that the repairs wouldn't make the truck safe to be on the road that I won't support it."

Doen originally motioned for a Capital Improvement Plan budget of $95,465, which did not include the truck purchase.

An attempt to amend her motion and add $60,000 for the truck was turned down by about a two to one margin.

Voters approved the $95,465 Capital Improvement Plan budget by about the same margin.

The rest of the town's budget passed without much argument. A few questions for clarification were asked, but most were passed with no opposition or only a scattering of hands raised against the articles.

Voters did pause briefly to discuss an amendment to the town's Shoreland Zoning Ordinance. The amendment asked voters to give the Appeals Board authority to grant a variance to homeowners zoned in the shoreland who wanted to build on handicapped access.

Kathy Hook said she was opposed to the change, because it also gave the Appeals Board the right to demand that any adaptations for handicapped access be torn down once the handicapped person no longer lived on the property.

But Appeals Board chairman Ken Ramage said the board was unlikely to order that anything added be torn down.

"As long as I'm chair of the board," Ramage said, "I won't do it."

West Paris residents protest placement of new trees

By DUANE HAYES
and WENDY HANSCOM

Four West Paris residents questioned selectmen last week on why five of 20 red maple trees recently planted by the town were put on a private lawn.

The trees were purchased with grant money matched by the town.

Monique Bailey said she spoke for four residents of North Paris who wanted to know why the trees were planted on the edge of a lawn at the intersection on Route 219 and the Abbott Road.

Bailey told the selectmen the trees were partially bought by town taxpayers, and should have been planted in the village or at one of the town's schools.

"I didn't realize people could make requests for trees," she said. Bailey had said earlier that she thought the trees were left over after a weekend planting in the village.

Selectman Wade Rainey told her that the town had planned in advance of the tree's delivery to plant the trees on the property.

"Herb Ryerson, who owns the lot on that corner didn't know the trees were going to be planted there, so the choice of that location was never made by anyone's request," he said.

The area around the intersection is built up a bit, Rainey said, and looked bare. The Ryerson property used to be ringed by elm trees, he said.

Rainey said he also thought it was inappropriate to plant the trees on SAD17 property.

"SAD17 gets $18 million a year and West Paris has to pay them $29,000 per month, so they should be able to supply trees for the school grounds if they want them there," he said.

Bailey then argued that the trees should have been planted along Main Street in the village.

But Rainey said the state plans to widen Main Street, and any trees planted there would be torn up.

Deane Abbott, and Gary and Donna Freeland, who were also at the meeting, asked the selectmen tell the public where and what trees they were planning to plant before voters were asked to approve the purchase at Town Meeting.

Selectmen agreed to do that if the town's beautification program continues.

Recyclers, math whizzes and doll lovers

School in SAD44 was out Thursday, but local summer activities are already underway. The Bethel Library sponsored an "American Girls" doll party last week to kick off its summer activities program. "American Girls" is a series of historical fiction books, based on the lives of five girls in different eras of American history. Dolls based on the books are also available. Attending the party last week, along with their dolls, were (photo below, front row, from left): Lindsay Hart, Anna Dohrmann, Erin Murphy and Margaret Duplessis. Second row: Ashley Gould, Courtney Blake, Cassie Mason, Kate Caddigan and Caroline Raymond. Back row: Stephanie Gavett, Mallory Blake, Lauren Hart, Sarah Gamble, Lauren Hansen and Gabriela Johnson. Third-grade math whizzes were also honored last week. The three third-grades at the Crescent Park School this year were challenged to learn 100 addition and 100 subtraction basic math facts. The Math Facts Contest participants were asked to correctly answering 200 basic facts in 10 or fewer minutes. Third-graders who met the challenge are (photo below left, front row, from left): Kane Olson, Ben Dohrmann, John Reuter, Gina Hebert, Laura Plvin and Lacy J. Newell. Second row: Adam Hanscom, Jordi Walker, Wade Osgood, Jessica Brough, Ashley Hautaniemi and Lauren Hart. CPS recyclers showed off their "Great Balls of Foil" recently. Pictured to left are some of the classes that participated in the Great Balls of Foil contest this year. Since October, Marci Tupper's fifth-grade class has been in charge of recycling at the school. CPS recycled 40 pounds of magazines, 420 pounds of newspaper, 840 pounds of office paper and 160 plastic containers.

Clean water...

It's more than just a pretty picture.

Clean water is essential for our tourism and fishing industries, our health and our recreation.

But Maine's water quality is in danger. Many lakes, rivers and coastal waters are threatened by pollution from run-off and toxic chemicals.

There are things you can do in your home and community to protect Maine's waters.

From the class of 1924 three members were present, the class of 1934 three members were present, from the class of 1944 11 members were present and three of the 1994 graduates. Awards of $50 each were presented to Darrin Reynolds, Melissa Howe, James Bonney, also receiving awards were Christopher Howe, Patsy Jo Roberts and Kelsey Cross.

The Historical Society fosters understanding of our New England background and gives people insights and benefits. Support it. What can you contribute to historical research?

A small private museum called The Crown has opened in Bryant Pond. It features antiques and cultural exhibits. Visitors will view many items and many of them are for sale. A donation is requested for admission. Look for the black Museum sign. It is opened by appointment or by chance.

Forty members of the Woodstock/Greenwood Senior Citizens travelled to The Chick-A-Dee for dinner on Thursday, June 1. It was a lovely day for a ride and a delicious dinner was enjoyed by all.

The opening of the historical museum was well attended, and some of the Woodstock alumni visited in the evening. Curator Larry Billings has given a children's book on the Middle Ages to the museum. Many visitors have already commented on how many exhibits the Society has. Others have been researching their genealogy. Many like to look at the Society's photo albums. The Historical Society offers much to the area. You, too, can benefit from the Woodstock Historical Society. The Historical Society notes that Dr. John Dunkle called one old town "a colorful and vivid re-creation of a rich, vital period." Let's hope some aspects of Woodstock qualify for this description. Curator Larry Billings has given a variety of magazines to the Historical Society. They cover collecting, hunting, antiques and other subjects. He also donated a large package of Maine memorabilia.

Guests at the home of Ken and Alice Hoyt this past weekend have been Bobby and Gwenn Hoyt. Joseph Hoyt graduated from preschool on Thursday. His dad, James Hoyt attended the graduation and brought Joseph and Maggie home for the weekend. On Sunday, they celebrated Shawn Crockett's seventh birthday by going to JoAnn and David's for dinner. Beatrice Farnum also went along. Bob and Gwen Hoyt called on their grandmother, Beatrice Farnum on Saturday afternoon.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hathaway have been Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Hathaway and Debbie Millett, Victor Hathaway and Harriett and Lawrence Estes.

glory/In her dreams if she had worn it/They would have seen her in a different way/But it was not meant to

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

June days begin early probably because they have so much to do. The leaves and flowers are here, now comes the growth that makes July and August.

The iris is in bloom. There are so many colors: yellow, blue, purple and others.

There arrives that big, black and gold insect that shouldn't be able to fly but does. It's a hummer and a bumblebee, noisy, but as colorful as a butterfly. It is as a part of a sunny day as the rose or the strawberry.
This bumblebee doesn't go looking for trouble. It has been here for a long time and tolerates man up to a point, but it will not be domesticated. I think it is intelligent for it eats when it's hungry and sleeps when it's tired. It doesn't work itself to death as the honeybee does. It sleeps at night which is more than we can say about insects. I have seen it couched in an aster or zinnia blossom early in the morning. So I think the bumblebee is a friend. It is neither a thief or a killer.

June is also a time of chattering leaves, especially the talkative poplars. Here in the Northeast we call them popples. They grow on rocky hillsides, in pastures; and they take over neglected knolls. They change from silver leaflets to twinkling in the sunlight, to a spangle in the moonlight, to dancing in raindrops keeping a chatter and prattle at all times. They are a friendly tree.

We shouldn't forget the fireflies of June. I saw them last evening for the first time this year. They are small, soft-bodied beetles and in daylight seldom noticed. But at night, they flash above the lawns winking their lights, making their magic. How strange they are making their heatless fire. I saw them above the pond last evening. Tiny lights, skating.

This last week was busy with graduations. Several from here attended. I had a niece, Teresa Curtis, graduating from Telstar High and a nephew from Buckfield High. I went to Telstar then to Teresa's home where many of my relatives gathered to wish her a happy future.

After church on Sunday Albert and Marie Curtis and Rena Curtis took me to Poland to visit my brother, Ernest who is at his home
now. He seemed happy and well.

David, Sally and Mary were at the farm on Sunday.

I'm writing this on Flat Day which was first observed in 1861 in Hartford, Conn., by hanging out flags and having a program with music, addresses and prayer.

Hi to all you readers out there. I hope that you are keeping cool during this hot spell. The temperature outside my kitchen window now reads 100 degrees. No wonder I was hot but thank goodness for an air conditioned car as sister and I went to Gilead today to our aunt's grave.
Now I'm hurrying to get this in the mail. I shouldn't wait 'til the last minute.

We attended Eric's high school graduation on Saturday night, June 11 at Oxford Hills. As the graduates were marching out, a large flock of geese went flying overhead in the V form, just as if they were marching, too. It doesn't seem possible that I also graduated 50 years ago this year.

Several from town attended the pancake breakfast at Kezar Lake Grange Hall in North Lovell, which was good as usual and it was a good time to visit with friends. Again it was good to see Thaxter Littlefield out with Earl and Jean.

Tuesday, June 14 was an enjoyable day as I served as Republican ballot clerk with Phyllis Adams as the Democrat ballot clerk. The day went by fairly fast as we chatted with people coming in to vote. It was a low attendance but that was expected but in the fall it will be a different story.

Wednesday, June 15 the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War 1861-1865 Hannah F.
Richardson tent #19 met at 7 p.m. at the K. of P. Hall with President Leslie Dean presiding. There were six members present with three guests from the Norway tent. Carolyn Heino was installed as Senior Vice President. A program of poems and a history of the Daughters was read as this is the 70th anniversary of the D.U.V. There was a beautifully decorated cake with patriotic colors, etc. brought by Joyce Gouin. Next meeting will be in September after the summer recess.

Florence Hall received word from grandparents. Their daughter, Wendy Hennemann, Columbus,

He is a great-great nephew of

Gertrude Hutchin's niece, Nancy Wardwell took her to Norway last Thursday for a doctor appointment.

Norman White went to Togus last Wednesday for back treatment.

Margaret Anne Hall, Vermont and friend called on Aunt Florence recently.

Jessie Manzer Rivard, one of Florence's pupils in the fifth grade at Elm St. School called on her one day last week.

Thought for the day: Two persons cannot be friends if they cannot forgive each other's little failings.

Telstar Middle School's sixth, seventh and eighth grades all went to Bear Pond Park in Turner last Wednesday, June 15. They enjoyed swimming and a cookout. It was a beautiful day for such an excursion.

Jeff Campbell has been mowing the South Woodstock cemetery this week. He keeps it looking real good.

I attended a graduation and bridal shower party for Stacy Dean on Sunday at her home in West Paris.
She received gifts of money and many shower presents.

I ventured to Gorham, N.H. one day this week to get a few items, also travelled to Norway to have my car inspected.

Kellie Hart had a moving sale on Saturday. There were many items on sale and a good part of them were sold. Carol Hall helped with the preparation and during the day. We saw many friends who came to inspect the goods. Kellie will be having a much deserved vacation the next two weeks.

A housewarming/openhouse was given Jerrold, Tracie and Lyndon Mason at their new log home on Curtis Hill Rd. in West Paris on May 22. Fifty-five people signed the guest book. A tour was given by the guests of honor with refreshments served by neighbors and friends.
Many cards and gifts have also been received by those unable to attend giving their best wishes and congratulations and happiness in their new home.

Larry Billings, curator for Woodstock Historical Society, gave some informative booklets to the Historical Society and some information on classical music. The Historical Society is a center of community activity.

I remembered to put the flag out on Flag Day, June 14. I noticed many others also remembered. Did you?

Howdy folks. It was still cloudy here last Monday morning. After having some thunder showers really early this morning it has lightened up and looks like the sun might possibly shine some later on.

After the showers last Monday, I worked on some of my equipment, trying to get it ready to help me this summer. I have a small Mantis tiller that has always been very stubborn about starting and it remains the same this spring.

Last Monday evening we attended Franklin Grange in Bryant Pond, where we had election of officers for the coming year; inspection by our deputies, Lewis and Myrtle Bisbee from Mechanic Falls, and our Memorial program. Our regular chaplain couldn't be with us and Bertha Benoit from West Paris, took care of preparing and presenting the Memorial program.

We have stayed home a little of the time and have been getting our gardens ready for the summer. Tuesday we got our broccoli and cauliflower plants transplanted, along with other things.

Tuesday evening we attended Oxford Pomona #2 which was hosted by Frederick Robie Grange in Otis-field. On our way, we picked up Gail Butterfield and Marion Bennett in South Paris and Irene Stevens in Norway to go with us.

The Host Grange furnished us with an excellent turkey and vegetable supper. The guests brought salads and desserts. We had a good attendance and the supper was followed by a very good meeting.

I transplanted my tomato plants
Wednesday forenoon and with Peggy's help, we got the weather shields around them to help keep them warmer.

Wednesday afternoon we did errands and visited sister Viva in Auburn. We had errands at the Wholesale Depot and then Wal-mart before going to see Viva. We found sister Viva laying on the bed. She said that she had fallen and hurt one leg. She had a black and blue area as a result.

After visiting Viva, we went to visit the Bernard White's. We stayed and had supper with them.
Whitey had to leave soon after having supper, to go "ump" a ball game.
He has taken training and is now an official umpire.

Peggy and I finished planting our garden on Thursday forenoon.
Myrna and Whitey came up from Auburn, and Whitey mowed the lawn for us once again. We certainly do appreciate having Whitey run the lawnmower for us.

Myrna and Whitey stayed to dinner with us before returning to Auburn.

Thursday evening we picked up Lettie Brooks in West Paris and Olive Risco in Bryant Pond, and went to the home of Bill and Ernestine Riley in Locke Mills. This meeting was called to help get organized for the musical supper which will be taking place on July 19 at the American Legion Hall in Locke Mills.

Peggy did her card work at LaVer-diere's again on Friday. I made a batch of muffins in the morning before going outside where I tried to start my little tractor that had been stored all winter, and learned that a new battery is a MUST.

We then went to see the buffalo at the home of Richard Jones. They were gone, but we did see some mother buffaloes and their spring calves.

We then went to West Bethel where we visited with Loretta and Emerson Merrill, and son, Rusty for awhile before returning home.

Mary Lovejoy reports that they have a woodchuck, who just sits at the edge of their garden, waiting for the vegetables to start growing.

On Friday, Mary Lovejoy helped chaperone the West Paris Kindergarten class as they went to Portland to visit the Children's Museum of Maine.

They had lunch at the Park before returning home.

Alli Mack is having the cataract removed from her second eye. Dr.
Wolfe of Lewiston is the physician.
We wish her a speedy recovery and more good vision.

Tammy Farnum from Bryant
Pond, called at Lovejoy's one day last week. She was after flowers for her daughter to use as she does her Girl Scout project, which is to maintain a flower garden at the Town Library in Bryant Pond.

The Lovejoy's called on Marsha Baxter of Oxford on Saturday.

Jenny Newton was an after-school guest of Hope Lovejoy, as they worked on a school project.

The Lovejoy's attended the musical concert at the Junior High School on Tuesday evening. Their daughter, Faith took part in the concert.

On Thursday evening they attended the awards ceremony. This was held in the cafeteria and they found standing room only. Their daughter, Faith received some pins for her high honors.

There will be a dance at the Locke Mills Town Hall on June 25 with The Richard Felt Orchestra furnishing the music.

Don't forget the musical supper, to be hosted by Franklin Grange and will be held at the American Legion Hall in Locke Mills on July 19. The supper will start at 5:30 p.m. A $5 ticket ($2.50 for children under 12) will get you supper, a variety show and dancing after the show. This is a real bargain and we hope to see you all there.

"Between The Lines"

Dear Friends,
Our REGIONAL section here at BOOKS-N-THINGS is well stocked with books for the summer season as steamy weather arrives at last.
One of our new favorites is THE QUOTABLE MOOSE, edited by Wesley McNair. This contemporary Maine reader includes works by Carolyn Chute, Susan Kenney, Cathie Pelletier, Philip Booth and others. In these selections loggers, farmers, hunters, mariners and laborers in both small hamlets and urban centers make discoveries about both Maine and themselves. This softcover, published by the University Press of New England, is $16.95.
GOOD OLD MAINE, by Will Anderson, came out around Christmas, so a lot of our summer visitors haven't yet seen this chronicle of 101 past and present bits of Maine pop culture, including numerous references to the Oxford Hills. Price is $16.95 in paperback.
We look forward to serving you this summer as Western Maine's Complete Bookstore.

MASON FAMILY GATHERING

The sixth annual gathering of Mason family descendants will be held at the Dr. Moses Mason House, 14 Broad St., Bethel, on Saturday, July 2. Registration will begin at 10 a.m.

Beverages and snacks will be available throughout the day. Those attending are urged to bring a picnic lunch to enjoy on the lawn or inside if inclement. Those attending for the first time are urged to bring a 3x5 card to record details of Mason descent.

Bethel Community picnic

The second annual community picnic will be held on July 4 in Bethel on the grounds of the Dr. Moses Mason House, headquarters of the Bethel Historical Society. Festivities will get underway at 11:30 a.m. with a Fourth of July Address by Margaret Joy Tibbetts, former U.S. ambassador and longtime head of the society's board of trustees. Following her address, there will be an approximately two hour concert by the Portland Brass Quintet, whose appearance is sponsored in part by grants from the Maine Arts Commission and the Mahoosuc Arts Council. Other contributors include the Bethel Rotary Club, the Mundi-Allen American Legion Post, the Hall Memorial Fund of the Bethel Historical Society, Mildred Thomas, Richard and Jane Hosterman, and Kenneth and Gwyneth Bohr. Contributions are still being solicited to cover the cost of bringing this outstanding musical group to Bethel. All contributions are deductible as allowable by law and should be sent to the Society at P.O. Box 12, Bethel, Me., 04217. Those wishing further information may call the society office at 207-824-2908.

Anyone attending the picnic should bring his or her lunch to the grounds anytime after 11 a.m. In case of inclement weather, the event will take place in Odeon Hall, above the Bethel Town Office.

Games will be available for both adults and children on the grounds. Tours of Dr. Mason's house and the historic district in which it is located may also be enjoyed. In addition, Bethel will be holding an arts festival on the common, directly in front of the Dr. Moses Mason House.

In the afternoon, Society Director Stanley R. Howe will highlight some of the past 20 years since the Dr. Moses Mason House opened to the public in 1974.

All attending are encouraged to bring family photos and stories to share with others. Anyone wishing further information is urged to call the society office at 207-824-2908 or Elizabeth Mason Carter at 207-836-2343.

SONGO POND MINE OPEN

The Songo Pond mine in Albany has reopened for the summer season.

Anyone who would like to visit the working mine can call Jan Brownstein at 824-3898. Admission fees are $10 for adults; children 7 to 13, $5; and children 6 and under, free.

LAND TRUST AUCTION

Locally-crafted jewelry by the Bethel area's artisans, a scenic airplane flight, a guided fishing trip on Kezar Lake, and dozens of other products and services will go on the block when the Mahoosuc Land Trust hosts an auction July 1st from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. under the tent on the Bethel Common.

The auctioneer will be Dave Murphy, and proceeds of the auction will assist the land trust in its continued efforts to set aside protected areas for recreation, timber management, and habitat protection.

Framed photography and paintings, tickets for local musical performances, hand-crafted ash canoe paddles, and local lodging accommodations have been donated for the auction as well.

Auction organizers are still puzzled by an anonymous donation that appeared on the Trust's front lawn—a metal fireplace screen with cherry wood mantel and glass doors, reportedly in excellent condition.

For skiers, both a private lesson with a local racing coach and a day with Sunday River's Women's Ski Experience are likely to be of interest. New Nordic skis, and tickets to the 7th annual L.L. Bean Cross-Country Ski Festival are also up for bid.

Last-minute items may be donated until Friday, July 1. Further information is available by calling the Mahoosuc Land Trust at 824-3806.

News from the

The Bethel Library

The Summer Reading Program is underway, with other 70 elementary and preschool children signed up. All CPS children brought information home from school and the record-keeping forms are available now at the circulation desk. Come in soon and sign up for a summer of reading fun. This year children have a choice: pre-schoolers and young readers may read 20 library books (or have them read aloud to them); older children, who may find it difficult to complete 20 books, may opt to read library books for 10 hours during the summer.

All children who successfully complete the program will have a celebration at the end of the summer. All first through fifth graders will have a field trip to Discovery Zone in Portland on Aug. 29, and all preschoolers and kindergartners will have a party at the library.

In addition to the Summer Reading Program, there will be many special events for children this summer at the library. The first event, The American Girls Doll Party, was a big success June 17, despite the incredible heat. The other events will be: Magic Talent Show, Monday, June 27, 10-11 a.m. (practice your best tricks and bring your magic kits, or just come and watch); Teddy Bear Picnic, Wednesday, July 6, 11 a.m. to noon, raindate, Thursday, July 7, 11 a.m. to noon (bring your lunch and your Teddy Bear, games and cake will be provided); Mad Scientist Party, Monday, July 11, 10-11:30 a.m., raindate, Tuesday, July 12, 10-11:30 a.m. (fun activities and a delicious surprise at the end for school age children, call the library at 824-2520 to sign up); Field Games, Tuesday, July 19, 10-11 a.m., raindate, Wednesday, July 20, 10-11 a.m. (fun and games, open to all ages, refreshments will be served).

For more information call Kathy Gleason at 743-8106.

SUMMER B-BALL CLINIC BY WESTBROOK COLLEGE

The Telstar High School basketball program will host a summer basketball clinic on July 18 to 22.

Westbrook College staff will run the clinic, which is open to grades three through 12.

The clinic will run for five days, at $50 for the week or $10 per day. Grades three through seven will meet from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. Eighth- through twelfth-graders meet from noon to 3 p.m.

Clinics at the Telstar gymnasium will be coed, and emphasize shooting, passing, dribbling, man-to-man-defense, team play, attitude and motivation.

Westbrook staff members include Jim Graffan, head coach and District V coach of the year for 1993 and 1994; Mike Johnson, Westbrook assistant coach and former Bonny Eagle head coach, and Bruce Bowers and John Tolan, assistant coaches.

Anyone interested in more information can call Mark Thurlow at 674-3698.

Golf tip of the week --

Long grass. If the ball sits in the roots of the long grass, hold the lofted club firmly and play the shot powerfully with the ball back in stance. Employ an early wrist break and steep upward swing of the arms and down again, while maintaining constant flex in the right knee and the head still.

The golf tip of the week is provided by the staff of the Bethel Inn and Country Club.

CANOE INSTRUCTION

The Bethel Recreation Board will offer a canoe program at Songo Pond on Tuesdays, July 12, 19 and 26 at 1 p.m., for all age levels (third grade and above) through Wild River Adventures. There will be one hour of instruction and one hour of recreational canoeing. All interested persons should register at the town office by Thursday, June 30. There is a $5 fee, which includes one or all three sessions.

New trio to perform

The newly formed Grove Farm Trio will give their first public performance on Saturday, July 2 at the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce's "Bethel Area Fourth of July Festival and Celebration of the Arts." The hour performance will begin at 11 a.m. at the Town Common in Bethel.

Grove Farm Trio's members are Cheryl Richards of Oisfield as violinist and flutist, Kelly Bickford of Locke Mills as bassoonist, and Ross Swain of Andover as pianist. The hour program will include several pieces in the Baroque and classical style such as Handel's Sonata III, Trio No. 1 by Haydn, and Mozart's Trio in G Major, K. 496. Several short pieces by various composers will also be included in the program.

The Grove Farm Trio was brought about through the meeting of Richards and Bickford while employed at Maine Handicapped Skiing at Sunday River Ski Resort in Bethel, Maine. The two decided to put a trio together with Swain, a friend of Bickford's. Swain's friends, Burt and Jane deFrees of North Rumford, graciously opened their Grove Farm home with a Steinway grand piano for the trio's rehearsals. After the instrumentalists decided to become a full-fledged trio, the issue of a name was discussed. With rehearsals bringing the trio to Grove Farm, the name "Grove Farm Trio" was chosen.

BOWIE IN POETRY BOOK

A poem by Jennifer L. Bowie of Newry was recently published in "The 21st Century," a New England publication for teenagers.

Bowie received a $5 gift certificate to Walden books and a $10 certificate to Strawberries. Her poem was about a stranger's observations of a teenager.

The 40-page tabloid is written entirely by teens for teens. More than 120,000 copies are distributed every month to 755 schools throughout New England. The paper is also available free at Walden books and Strawberries Record and Video stores. About 1,200 students a month contribute to the paper.

Card of Thanks

The family of Dylan Mathew Bragg wish to thank everyone who so willingly gave of their time, love and special gifts which have helped us through this most difficult time. God works thru the intelligence of men and women, but never more so than those of the multi-talented staff of the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit of the Portland Maine Medical Center. Your professionalism, love and caring of Dylan helped us to create some beautiful and touching memories of our baby. Thank-you for staying the extra hours and for going that extra mile. Thank-you pastor MacDonald and our church family at the Lisbon Falls Baptist Church for the many cards, prayers, timely insights and for the sensitivity and spiritual guidance that helped us endure what we thought we could not. The out-pouring of support and love from our families and friends has made a tremendous impact on our lives and that caring and sharing has helped divide and lessen our sorrow. Words cannot express to you what is in our hearts but we are grateful to be blessed with each of you. Thank-you to the many "unknown" members who composed the prayer groups all over Maine, California, Wisconsin and Nova Scotia. Your prayers touched our hearts the same way Dylan touched yours in his efforts to survive. The Andrews Funeral Home and Glen Henderson a special thank-you for the "Love" gifts and the gentle way you handled our needs. The love of our Lord Jesus Christ has empowered us with strength to do impossible things. "Some people only dream of angels, we held one in the palms of our hands." Our baby's struggles are over; our hearts are still tender, but our spirit is strong and we are comforted knowing that Dylan will dwell in the house of the Lord forever. THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words comfort and hope for your daily life. In the Gospel of St. Mark, chapter 12, verses 28 through 31, Mark relates the account of how a scribe appeared to Jesus, and asked of him, Which is the first? Meaning the greatest or most important. Jesus answered by saying, the first is that thou shall love the Lord thy God, with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength. This is the first commandment. The second is, thou shalt love thy neighbor as thy self. There is none other commandment greater than these. Paul and others of the Apostles, as well, in their Epistles to the various churches, brought them to mind of the importance of this love for one another. In 1st Corinthians 13, Paul compares its importance to hope and faith. In closing that chapter, verse 13 reads, and now abideth faith, hope and charity, these three, but the greatest of these is charity. Charity is love, in the way that Jesus was referring to it, it is concern, care for others, an interest and willingness to contribute to the need of others. Not necessarily in monetary ways, but in such ways as they need help. But there is more to love for one another than giving help where needed. Another commandment tells us to do unto others as we would have them do unto us. That is certainly a great guideline. But perhaps God should have added a bit to it and have said, don't do unto others something you wouldn't have them do to you. It's not real love to help one in one way but hurt him in others.
